1st European Workshop on Seabuckthorn- EuroWorks

During the last decades massive efforts have been made to promote and develop seabuckthorn. The benefits of this plant - nitrogen fixation, multifarious use for human nutrition, medicine, cosmetics, animal feeding and environmental protection - prompted a rich flood of scientific publications and practical properties. Nowadays, the foundation of the International Seabuckthorn Association (ISA) in New Delhi in 2001 can be considered as a great step forward. Several international meetings, held in Berlin, Beijing, Quebec and Barnaul, provided a powerful exchange of knowledge and co-operation. However, actual developments in Europe show that there is still a great demand for a science based exchange of results and experiences. Therefore the meeting intends to offer another chance to broaden the international co-operation within the seabuckthorn society. It is our aim to start a new European tradition of conferences being a perfect intermediate and complement to the ISA - conferences. Furthermore, it is the expressed goal of the organizers to promote seabuckthorn and to develop international scientific as well as commercial co-operation.

Objectives of the Conference

- to assess the current status of seabuckthorn research
- to propagate new knowledge about medical effects of seabuckthorn
- to show new technologies for breeding varieties especially for European cultivation conditions
- to develop long term strategies in scientific as well as in commercial co-operation

Main Themes of the meeting

- ▶ medical and pharmaceutical use of seabuckthorn
- ▶ bioactive substances of seabuckthorn
- ▶ new technologies for organic seabuckthorn products
- ▶ general knowledge on seabuckthorn, its composition and application
- ▶ international co-operation on seabuckthorn

We, the members of the German Society for Seabuckthorn and Wild Fruits - Sanddorn e.V. - are proud to organise the Berlin EuroWorks meeting 2010. Being the president of the society I would like to invite you and will highly appreciate your decision to join our event.
